1. Introduction

The college student work involves ideological and political education, mental health education, campus life, talent training and other elements, covering a wide range. It is a comprehensive work, bearing the glorious mission of comprehensively training students to grow and become talents. Colleges and universities have always attached importance to student work. Teachers should improve their political standing and shoulder various student work tasks with a high sense of responsibility. In order to actively respond to this challenging work, it is very necessary for student staff to grasp the main contradictions in the work as a whole, free themselves from the complicated and routine work, and even from distress, to ensure the high-quality completion of student work and improve work efficiency. The number of young and middle-aged teachers in colleges and universities serving as head teachers and counselors is relatively large. Due to the lack of experience and methods of some teachers, the student work is not carried out smoothly, which brings many troubles and leads to a decline in work efficiency. To this end, we should first understand the current situation of student work in colleges and universities, clarify the importance of student work in education and teaching, sort out and summarize the experience of student work, grasp the main contradictions, and form a clear work orientation, which can provide a correct way for college educators to carry out student work.

2. General situation of college student work

According to experience, the author believes that the college student work is generally composed of five aspects: student work management team, college students, key node work, daily management and emergency response.[1] To do a good job in these five aspects, we should fully implement the Party's education policy, implement the fundamental task of building morality and cultivating people, take students as the center, master the basic conditions of students' ideology, politics, psychology, life, and learning, and find out the problems that students really encounter, In order to explore a scientific and effective way. Therefore, this paper discusses the overall situation of college student work from two parts (five aspects).

The first part is the subject and object of implementing the task of student work. The main body is the teachers and other staff responsible for planning, organizing and implementing various student work tasks, which is mainly composed of the staff of the student work management department, the head teachers and counselors of the department, the student union and other personnel; The target is the broad group of college students. The management of subjects and objects, the mutual coordination mechanism, and their own comprehensive quality have laid the foundation for the success of student work. According to the specific situation, we should implement policies and teach students in accordance with their aptitude.

The second part is about student affairs. It is both a "prescribed action" and a flexible response.[2] For the collective, there are ideological and political education, the construction of the style of study, the handling of emergencies, the organization of campus sports activities and other contents; There are evaluation, group discussion, theme meeting, etc; Students are faced with health, mental health education, integrity examination, etc. From the perspective of the priorities of student affairs, it can be roughly summarized as daily work, key node work and emergency response. Students' staff must go deep into the students and do things personally. They should deal with all kinds of affairs and safeguard the interests of students in the spirit of caring for students and the attitude of the responsible person.

3. On the path of student work and ideological and political education in local colleges and universities

In order to improve the efficiency of student work, effectively reduce the burden on front-line teachers, and promote scientific and standardized management, it is believed that the work should be carried out from the following four key aspects:

3.1. Establish rules and regulations, and carry out student work according to laws and regulations

(1) Formulate scientific evaluation methods for awards and grants, so that awards and grants can be evaluated according to rules. The evaluation system and scoring form shall be formulated for scholarship evaluation to quantitatively assess the students' performance achievements. In terms of personal morality, the class adviser and teachers shall give comprehensive performance scores. The proportion of morality and talent shall be appropriate, and excellent students recognized by teachers and students shall be comprehensively selected. On the assessment of financial aid, the head teacher and counselor should concentrate on their work. On the one hand, they should master the basic economic situation of students through external performance of food, clothing and use. On the other hand, they should conduct one-to-one communication with students to further master the economic situation of students in difficulty, and identify their families and economic situation through internal and external cooperation. At the same time, they should ensure the safety of students' personal information to avoid unnecessary interference to students themselves due to information leakage, accurately help college students realize their dreams.

(2) Carry forward the democratic spirit and steadily promote the implementation of various policies. Establish and improve the assessment system of the head teachers and counselors, formulate the detailed rules for assessment, conduct public evaluation and assessment by grades according to the comprehensive performance of the students in their classes, so that the head teachers and counselors who have done a good job in management and outstanding performance can benefit from the system, press down on responsibility, and create a benign collective competition atmosphere.

3.2. Create high-quality campus activities and create a good campus cultural atmosphere

(1) Open the first lesson for freshmen. Freshmen entrance education and military training is the first compulsory course for freshmen. The course is mainly to enable students to further understand the basic situation of the school, understand their majors, their curriculum system and talent training objectives, and help students quickly establish their own academic goals. In order to help students fasten the first button of college campus life and learn how to deal with problems encountered in their studies and life, a series of lectures were held in freshmen's education activities on how to plan and spend college life, set goals in life stages, live up to the good times in college, cultivate correct values, school rules and regulations, etc. Military training is a task entrusted to the school by the National Defense Education Law. The content of military training should be innovated boldly. It is not just a simple step and other highly repetitive projects. It should meet the needs of college students in a timely manner, try to be close to the actual combat simulation exercise, mobilize the enthusiasm of college students in military training, and improve their national defense awareness.

(2) Hold rich cultural and sports activities to promote the coordinated development of various qualities and abilities of college students. The general principle of holding activities is to take students as the main body and let students participate fully. There are great differences in organizing methods, participating groups, educational functions, etc. of different forms of cultural and sports activities. Activities that are popular with students on campus include ball games, recitations, singer competitions, psychodrama, essay contests, chess, sports meetings, theme video competitions, etc. The planning, organization and publicity in the early stage of the activity are the key to mobilizing students to participate actively. The activity should be held under the guidance of the teachers of student work, and the activity planning plan should be formulated to ensure the fairness and justice of the competition in many ways, such as determining the venue and time, promoting the work in the early stage, attracting wide attention, and making emergency response plans and preparations for emergencies. At the end of the activity, relevant teachers and professionals will be invited to make a summary of the evaluation, and a grand award ceremony will be held to strengthen the sense of ceremony, so that students will have a sense of practical harvest and honor.

3.3. Give play to excellent students' demonstration to lead the authors and guide students to develop upward

(1) The Student Union is an important organization in the League study work and an organization serving the majority of students. At the same time, it shoulders certain management responsibilities and is also a part of the student work management team. As an important bridge and link between teachers and students, it assists the League study teachers to carry out various work. The Student Union represents the overall image of the school and the teaching department. Selecting the cadres and members of the Student Union is the key link to do a good job of student work, which is related to the correct direction of selection and employment. Therefore, to do a good job in the management of the student union is the key to improve the working efficiency of teachers and help students grow.

We should strengthen the education of the sense of purpose of "serving students", manage the team well, select and screen personnel through written examination, interview, comprehensive performance and other ways, integrate the democratic election results and the opinions of teachers and students, and ensure that the selection and appointment of the members in charge of the presidium and departments are open and fair. To ensure the "leader" orientation, we should adhere to the principle of not delaying the academic bottom line, take both political integrity and ability as the standard, be willing to serve students in action, be good at thinking and dare to fight. The number of members of the student union must be simplified, the institutional setting should be in line with the actual situation, eliminate the clutter, pay attention to the absorption of class cadres, and unblock the communication channels between the class and the student union; In terms of management, we should appropriately delegate tasks and authorities, pay attention to the cultivation of students' subjective consciousness, and let students change from the role of "being managed" to the role of "self-management participants" to form an autonomous management system; In terms of ideology, we should strictly control the ideological and political, ideological and personal moral cultivation, build a strong sense of the Chinese national community, guide the students' union members to learn to learn and supervise each other, be good at communication and exchange, and take the lead in practicing the core socialist values.

(2) In terms of the division of tasks, the president of the student union is responsible for cooperating with teachers, comprehensively guiding and managing various affairs of the student union, the vice president is responsible for assisting the president to do a good job in matters in his charge, and each department is responsible for completing the tasks assigned by teachers and the president of the student union. It emphasizes that all members should respect and help each other, show the spirit of contemporary college students, and resolutely put an end to "bureaucracy" among students. In difficult times, we should give full play to the enthusiasm of student Party members, take the initiative to take the responsibility, take the lead, and play a leading role.

3.4. Do a good job in handling emergencies and build a safe and harmonious campus

The sudden situation in campus life is accidental. Overlapping with the COVID-19, student work has changed into two fronts online and offline, which brings many challenges to student work. In the face of campus emergencies involving personal health, safety and public opinion, the key is to effectively deal with them at the first time. For example, in case of drinking and fighting on campus, the school security staff, on duty personnel, head teachers and counselors should arrive at the scene at the first time to persuade and stop students from fighting, pacify the feelings of the parties and other personnel, avoid further expansion of the situation and public opinion, and further trace the cause and process of the emergency when the parties are calm and conscious, The head teachers and counselors should guide and handle the situation in a timely and appropriate manner, seriously criticize and educate the party who is mainly responsible, strengthen the education of key personnel, and give punishment in strict accordance with the school rules and regulations on the premise that the parties reach an agreement. If serious consequences and impacts are caused, they should give public punishment, learn from them, and achieve the purpose of warning education. Timely and effective response to emergencies is the first requirement to ensure collective security and interests. It puts forward higher requirements on the responsibility and risk awareness of student staff, and is a yardstick to check whether the work is qualified. In order to ensure the stability of education and teaching order, it is of great significance to guide students not to touch the bottom line of the law, and to deal with emergencies.

4. Conclusion

Student work involves complicated work items, heavy tasks, and a myriad of ideas. At the same time, all aspects of the work contact and promote each other to form a unified whole. The main content of league education is the work of being a man, with strong subjective initiative. Take students as the center, go deep into the students, and establish the interpersonal relationship of "teachers and friends" between teachers and students. From ideological and political education, system guarantee, value cultivation and other aspects, we should be patient and nurture students to become pillars. Student work is a process of first suffering and then sweetness. As an educator, the growth of students is the greatest achievement and pride. To do well in the work of college students and ideological and political education is an inevitable requirement for the high-quality development of education and teaching.
