

Study on the mission of youth in the new era and the path to its realization

Zhihong Xu¹

¹*Institute of Marxism, Model University of Xinjiang, Urumqi, 830017, China*

Keywords: New era, youth, mission

Abstract: On October 16, President of the State pointed out in the report of the Party's 20th National Congress that "Youth is strong, but the country is strong", fully reflecting the Chinese party organization's passionate care and longing for contemporary youth. The growth of young people is about the hope of the nation, the future of the country. Three aspects of the path towards achieving the mission of the youth of the new era, the basic contents of the mission and the status of some youth, and the task of the young people of the new era, are examined in this paper. The youth should firmly grasp the mission tasks of advancing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation and the value pursuit of the struggle for the well-being of the people.

1. Basic contents of the mission of youth in the new era

1.1 The historical mission of youth in the new era

In the process of achieving the Chinese dream, youth should take the initiative to act as successors of the socialist cause building, must combine personal interests and national interests, the country thrives in order to better realize its values, in the process, the youth must take the role, to link personal ideals and the future of the nation, the prosperity of the country closely and to contribute their youth strength. The historical mission has three distinct characteristics: a historical. The social presence determines social consciousness, the development of human civilization thousands of years, the economic foundations and social environment faced by human beings in different social stages, the historic mission of youth is not the same. The youth mission of the primitive social period, the period of slave society, the feudal period of society is to survive and struggle. [1]

1.2 The mission of the times of youth in the new era

Today's young people in China come from the people, they serve the people in the service of the country, the growth of young people can directly reflect the development and spiritual face of China, affecting the development of China in the future and vitality. Young people of each era have their own mission, now China is moving towards the goal of the second century struggle, the new era youth should integrate personal efforts and responsibilities in the great cause of socialism, the foundation of the great practice of Chinese characteristics socialism and become actors in practice.

President of the State clearly put forward "Struggle for the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, the Chinese youth movement is the theme of the era", which provides the basic follow-up for the young people of the new age growth.

1.3 The world mission of the youth in the new era

As Chinese youth in the new era, not only have a home country feeling, but also a human feeling, youth is not only the future of the country, but the world's future. Today, the wave of globalization is sweeping around the globe, and Chinese youth should look long-term and build on the prospects of social development, and actively participate with the world's youth in global environmental protection, disaster reduction and relief, and with the global people to face the challenges and build a better home. In the process of building a community of human destiny, Chinese youth not only keep it in mind, but are even more active. In February 2022, the Beijing Winter Olympics and Paralympics were successfully organized in accordance with the common expectations of the world, and Chinese youth through "action power" brought more Chinese stories to the world and made their contribution to the inheritance of the Olympic spirit and the promotion of world progress.

Cultural differences should be the driving force for the development of human society, rather than the culprit of world conflicts, in the face of severe challenges that cannot be neglected in the field of culture. It is the common will of the people of the world to promote the building of a community of human destiny. Young people in the new era, as important contributors to the exchange and communication between countries in the world, should tell the good story of China on a world scale, establish a good image of Chinese youth, disseminate the fine traditional culture of China, build good international relations, and contribute to the construction of a common destiny of mankind. With practical action, Chinese youth showed the world that the young people of the new era are capable and able to do a great job, not afraid of suffering and dare to take responsibility.

2. The status and existence of young people in the new era

2.1 Lack of learning motivation

With the rapid development of the economy, the educational environment in our country has gradually improved, the new era young people mostly receive good higher education, higher cultural literacy, broader horizon, more wide interest, but also more disclosed shortcomings. Life, with the rise of the web short video, some young people do not want to improve themselves, and give up the academic competition to be broadcast on the Internet, fantasy and red, it is undoubtedly deceiving themselves, this phenomenon is more and more reflected in our everyday life with the emergence of the internet, scientists astronauts are no longer the ideal occupation of most young people, but intends to go short-sighted to become network red people.

2.2 Lack of ability to discern the wrong

In particular, in recent years, the wave of globalization is unstoppable, followed by the invasion of Western thinking, and more and more young people showed confusion for the future: on the one hand, the Chinese social system showed strong vitality, China's image and international position brought national confidence to the people; on the other hand, faced with the reality of poor and rich gaps, the imperfection of social systems, the failure of the country's specific policies, etc., are skeptical attitudes.

2.3 Lack of responsibility and accountability

Young people are the hope of the nation, the future of the country, and more should cultivate the spirit of responsibility in the critical period of growth. Currently, some young people do not establish the right values in the beginning of life stage, incidentally remove responsibility, dare not admit mistakes, or even ignore the moral and legal bottom line, this lack of responsibilities is not only the impact of the social environment, but also the most fundamental to the youth itself. For the cultivation of young people, the Party and the State should help the young people in many ways to establish a correct notion, guide young people of the new era towards better and more positive direction of development, through the continuous increase of the awareness and responsibility of new age youth, through family, school, society and other multiple ways to work for young people to create a healthy social environment and make it clear that a person's value and self-realization responsibility is inseparable.

3. Path to achieving the mission of youth in the new era

3.1 Young people with a strong will and ambition

3.1.1 Keeping in mind the original mission and firmly believing in ideals

A person with a spirit of self-confidence, often struggles with a clear goal, the will is firm, not afraid of difficulties. The more in the conditions of difficulty behind, the more can show the spirit of the spirit, the strength. In the old language there is "three armies can win the captain, the peoples can not take the will." In the history of our party's 101 years of struggle, we can see "the spirit" in many great leaders.

3.1.2 To build the foundation of faith, the youth should be enthusiastic

In this phase, the youth should have a deeper understanding of Marxist theory and its basic theoretical knowledge and methods, recognize that Communism is not only the highest form of social development, but also a social idea, which reflects the continuous pursuit of humanity's own values in the millennium. As a realistic communist movement, the young people of the new era must firmly establish Marxist beliefs, strive to study the origins of Marxism, master its fundamental theological knowledge and approaches, and use the Marxism theory as a weapon of mind; it must adhere to the learning of the socialist idea of President of the State's new era, the deep conquest of socialist ideology, the theory of its meaning, the practice of its present-day, the meaning of the present-generation, and the importance of the Chinese people's future, so that they can continue to learn from the values of the revolutionary era, and to maintain their struggle for socialism in any way that is difficult; the people must be able to move towards the greatest of the times, to build their own ideas, to maintain the meaning, to protect their own people, to ensure that they are able to fight against the realities of the future.

3.2 Move forward, be a young struggler.

3.2.1 Deepening the historical mission and fostering the spirit of struggle

“Generation has a long journey, generation has a mission.” [2] President of the State told the youth in the twenty-year report of the Party: “Current youth are born with talent, the stage is vast, the prospect of realizing dreams is bright.” Comprehensive construction of a socialist modern country is the direction of history, the road to the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation must be filled with thorns, and youth will not succeed in the growth path to create a beautiful future of socialism. Recalling the party's centenary development, is one young man after another raising the flag of Marxism, exploring the dream history of national revival. Today's China, is experiencing a century of unprecedented change, needs more of the country's youth to pass on the historical mission, bear the responsibility of a strong country, be a brave pioneer of history. It is the tool of the young country, is the Party's back army, the new era, Chinese youth should more vigorously develop the spirit of struggle, it is the experience, is also the measure of reality.

3.2.2 Take the initiative to enhance the ability to fight

For young people, the struggle skills need to be enhanced from the following two aspects: first, political strength. Young people should have a firm political position, establish the far-reaching socialist ideal and the common ideal of socialism with Chinese characteristics, firmly take the road of socialist development, strengthen the sense of responsibility, and combine their development with the great rejuvenation dream of the great Chinese nation. Second, learn. The young generation should cherish the opportunity to learn, and use their learned expertise to create new value for the society.

3.3 Pioneering Innovation: The Youth of the Age

3.3.1 Adhere to the supremacy of the people, stand firmly in the people's position

People's masses are the creators of history, the new era youth must firmly establish the purpose of serving the people. Jiangshan is the people, the people are Jiangsan. The social era changes rapidly and deeply, the youth of the new age show different distinct characteristics from the previous period: individualization, informatization, modernization. More than a hundred years ago, the Five-Four Movement, is the young students choose to approach the masses, save the entire Chinese nation's rescue map, nowadays, many young people only think of their lust for enjoyment, do not believe in science, not believe the theory of Marxism.

3.3.2 To uphold the leadership of the party, practice three imperatives

Under the new situation, the party faces many major risks tests, youth should strengthen the sense of urgency, adhere to the bottom line of thinking, it is a responsibility, and a responsibilities. Since its establishment, the Chinese Communist Party has always attached importance to youth, caring for young people, always will unite youth as the Party's work focus, lead the youth to the right growth path. In the new era, the vast majority of young people are not responsible for the people, in the line of prevention and control of the epidemic, on the armored guard of the people in the battlefield of poverty alleviation and struggle for the happiness of people, actively engage in the construction of social reform great practice.

4. Conclusions and Discussion

President of the State at the 20th Congress report of the Party said that "the vast majority of young people should not listen to the Party's speech, go with the Party, embrace their dreams and put their feet in practice, dare to do good and do good, wishing to be the good young people of the new era with ideals, daring to take responsibility, able to suffer, willing to struggle, so that the youth in the comprehensive construction of the socialist modernized country of the fiery practice of bloom blossom." This is the expectation of the party and the people to the young people, contemporary Chinese youth will be to realize the great rejuvenation of China's nation as their duty, not an era, not a burden. In the future, Chinese young people will raise the great banner of the ideology of socialism with Chinese characteristics of Xi'an's new era, adhere to the theme of the era of the Chinese Youth Movement, and write a chapter of youth worthy of a new era.

Acknowledgements

Thank you to the Institute of Marxism of the Model University of Xinjiang, and thank you to President Zhang Li Jiang.

References

- [1] Tianli D, Xinzhi C, et al. A study on New Party Building in the New Era—The Youth is the Future [J]. Journal of Baoshan University, 2019.
- [2] Yang Fei. Young People of the Power [J]. Chinese Communist Youth League, 2021 (14): 28-29.