

Research on Public Legal Service in Grassroots Governance

Ziwei Zhao^{a,*}, Yiheng Wang^b

School of Law, Shanxi University of Finance and Economics, Taiyuan, 030000, China

^a 854782091@qq.com, ^b 1114034624@qq.com

Keywords: grassroots governance, rule of law, government-led public welfare

Abstract: With the continuous improvement of our laws, to build national grassroots governance are becoming increasingly important in the face of some difficulties faced by grassroots governance in society, we do not practice during the break to improve the construction of public service law, promotion of grassroots governance The perfection. State agencies and the government require the promotion of legalization of publicity, which can correctly guide all people to enjoy the public legal service system for free. In the process of grassroots governance, gradually improve the public legal service model system to make it play a major role in grassroots governance. To ensure that the public legal service model can become a defense line for safeguarding citizens' legitimate rights and interests, promoting the peaceful and stable development of the motherland's society, and the country's long-term stability, so that it can play a huge role in the country's grassroots governance and the construction of the rule of law .

1. The concept of public legal service model in grassroots governance

The role of public service law carried out by the government-led, the key is to participate in society of the masses, to subsist by the rule of law and the rule of law way of thinking care to protect the basic rights of citizens, promote social stability and development, to achieve public civil service for basic legal requirements. In addition public law reflects not only meet the basic citizen services required by law, the same, it is an essential public service. The government should provide public legal services, which is one of its duties. In the process of improving public legal services, it is necessary to achieve standardization and equalization of public legal services. To ensure that the norms of good public order and legal services, construction management, service and other indicators standardization, while protect all the people can enjoy public legal services, so that all the people (whether farming village or city people) can enjoy a certain standard of public law over Law service.

2. The current basic situation of grassroots law firms in my country

At present, grass-roots law firms play an active role in meeting the needs of grass-roots services, but there are still many problems in the specific process of practice. Many grass-roots legal service offices are small in scale, low in level, and insufficient in legal authority, etc. In the face of these problems, the requirements for the improvement of the public legal service model in grassroots governance are more urgent. Only by solving these problems can we better promote administration and governance according to law.

3. The significance of the public legal service model in grassroots governance

Strengthening grassroots governance, improve the public service model is legal party eighteen important requirements in practice grassroots governance, the development of public legal services more convenient mode of various legal resources of government and society co-ordination, to be effective from Proceed from the fundamental interests of the people, safeguard the interests of citizens, strengthen the construction of the rule of law, and promote the modernization of the country and the construction of a society under the rule of law.

(1) Strengthening the grassroots public legal service system is a requirement for building a rule of law and service-oriented government

Grass-roots government from the masses is the nearest primary sector, only by strengthening the base layer of public service legal system, in order to better promote grass-roots government ministry can change, improve the grass-roots government public services, promote the construction of government has Zhong Chinese characteristics grassroots public legal service system . In our country's grassroots legal service system, the country's population of people of many initiatives have been unable to meet the public demand for government and grassroots of the law, grassroots public laws need to change to be more perfect. Government play in the grass-roots management a leading role in regulating the masses contradiction, integration plays an active impetus for the community resource use, strengthen the public legal service system of grass-roots, for the rule of law political government and service government has a huge role in promoting, more effective for the community will serve the people

(2) Strengthening grassroots public legal service system is to enhance grassroots governance management level of the rule of law needs

With the continuous development of our society, economic improvement, and political progress require the further improvement of our laws, especially the grass-roots public laws, which is a very important matter for the management of ordinary people. A sound legal system, the rule of law is the most basic sign of modern society, we have to follow the pace of the times, at the forefront of the law to a higher profile maintenance protect public order and public interest, the rule of law society in the real world.

(3) To strengthen grassroots public legal service system, and safeguard social harmony stability needed

China is currently at a critical moment of reform and development. The quality of grassroots governance is related to whether the reform measures can be implemented. In order to adjust the contradictions among the people and maximize the interests of the people, the grassroots public legal service system must be strengthened. The grassroots government is to promote society. unique justice department, serving the people is the government's purpose, the government will use public law legal, maximize the protection of people's interests in the maintenance of social harmony and stability play a huge role.

4. Exploration of public legal service model in grassroots governance

Among the grassroots governance, public service law to follow the era of hair development product came into being, it meets the needs of the community. In the future, the public were legal services as the main content will promote the development of long-term, in justice in the field of administrative work, public legal services need to meet a number of conditions. First, on the thinking emphasized the rule of law, government workers must establish law rule consciousness, to strengthen legislation and improve the strict rule of law, and secondly, in the way of emphasizing service on. Mandatory for the management, but it is a service to help nature, public legal service should take the form of aid but not the obligation to promote in national construction law ; furthermore, stressed on the target people. Public legal services are for all people and serve the whole people; in addition, it emphasizes public welfare in nature. Public legal services should be free, public welfare services ; and finally, to emphasize community involvement, grassroots governance is the target person and herdsmen, we have to do all the people out, jointly coordinated rational development of public common legal service system.

(1) Accurate positioning and building a comprehensive, systematic and diversified public legal service system

The rule of law is the basic strategy of governing the country, we must strictly in accordance with the law to fulfill their social responsibilities, in grassroots governance session, we shall do observe legal construction, and constantly improve their own quality and ethics, but also improve the national public service law grassroots governance , promote public law of finished good and promotion, promote systematic and rationalization of grassroots governance, the promotion of national modernization and improvement of the system of governance, strengthening grassroots governance of law rule construction. Strengthen the moral status of the trend of social basic services, to grasp now on behalf of the public service role of public law the government must do, to show the government's modernization level of development is the standard of public services away degrees. Rule of Law and Public Service is in the process of serving the government must pay attention to the link, strengthen the construction of basic services is important in any government services, public legal services in the country of the rule of law and public services play a leading role in this process, the national governance system can do to be more mature, stereotypes, on the track of the rule of law, governance is more smooth and fast.

(2) Build the brand, build global, networked, information-based public common legal service system

Improvement and implementation of grassroots legal service system to rely more on government and grass-roots law firms, in legal promote grassroots public service system construction when set, must build brands, pay attention to the credibility of the government and the law firm of construction, to further promote the rule of law and services function, to serve the people, the Division of administrative legal services combine resources, make full use of, so that the people feel to a more convenient and efficient legal services, to achieve effective professional services, to expand the area of public legal service system, and is committed to the development of information technology , Make use of the grassroots management measures of public law to continuously popularize common sense of law to the public and promote the improvement of the quality and level of public legal services.

(3) The implementation of funds, build Governments, the rule of law, protection of the public were legal service mechanism

The construction of the basic-level public legal service system requires strong financial support from the government. In the process of construction, public legal services are to serve the people. In the face of economic growth and social needs, the people are in basic public legal services. the demand is also growing, due to this, public legal services must also take the initiative to adapt to the economic development, mobilizing French enthusiasm legal service personnel, improve the efficiency of public service law.

5. Conclusion

The establishment of a public legal service system is an important requirement for the comprehensive development and deepening of reforms in China's judicial administrative work, and an important starting point for improving the judicial administrative work in grassroots governance . In our grassroots governance, we need to give play to the important role of the public legal service system in the construction of the rule of law. Only do grassroots governance, in order to lay the foundation of the masses, the masses to promote solidarity for the party to lay the mass foundation of the correct implementation of policy guidelines, good sound public common legal service system plays an important role in the management of the masses, because of this, To do a good job in grassroots governance, a public legal service system must be established and improved.

References

- [1] Zhai Jirui. Research on the Countermeasures to Promote the Construction of the Grassroots Public Legal Service System [J]. Child, 2017(20):198.
- [2] Shi Chaoyong. The main problems and legal suggestions of the legalization of grassroots social governance [J]. Chongqing Administration (Public Forum), 2017, 18(5): 54-55.
- [3] Mo Yunmei. Public legal services in grassroots governance [J]. Legal Expo, 2018(24):123.