Philosophically, values are a specific relationship between people and things. Values are diverse in themselves. They have different values in different historical periods. They reflect social consciousness. Values represent people's evaluation of things and their lives. Both have a guiding role. Since China's reform and opening up, with the continuous development of economic globalization, values have gradually diversified, and the reasons for the formation of pluralistic values are mainly due to the following points: the social hierarchy and cultural background of the first people are different. There is a big difference in thinking. Second, the advent of the Internet era, a large amount of information has entered the network, affecting people's judgment standards. At present, the values of pluralism are mainly reflected in two aspects. The correct values refer to noble characters and pursuits, and the wrong values are the ideological concepts that socialist construction runs counter to. Diversified values have contributed greatly to the advancement of society, but society has also brought a lot of trouble[2].

Since the founding of New China, there have been many changes in values. In the primary stage of socialism, the task center of the state was to consolidate the people's political power, and everything was to stabilize the socialist system. Therefore, the value orientation of college students at that time was to achieve communist struggle for a lifetime. Personal interests obey the collective interests, completely discarding individual pursuits, and greatly promoted China's socialist construction. In this period, the main point of ideological and political education in China's colleges and universities is to transform the ideological and political education of college students with Marxist political theory. Since the Third Plenary Session of the Eleventh Central Committee of the Communist Party of China, the Party's program has established a concept of emancipating the mind. China has gradually entered the stage of reform. At the beginning, it was a period of exchange and friction between old and new institutions. At this stage, the concept of college students has changed and has been shaken off[3]. The original blind and personal worship thoughts gradually changed into a selection stage, and the values of self-consciousness gradually awakened. At the stage before 2000, the values of college students have been integrated between social values and human values. The main task of ideological and political education in colleges and universities is to guide college students to connect and form values, and to eliminate conflicts between self-values and social values. Since the beginning of the 21st century, the domestic situation has undergone a great transformation. With the continuous development of economic globalization, multiple values have gradually formed, and the values of college students have diversified. In particular, some unfair social and some current situations that are difficult to use scientific interpretation have had a major impact on the ideological concepts of college students. The traditional education model It is difficult to answer the confusion of students. Many students have confusion in their consciousness. In addition, the difference in information identification also changes the students' minds. It is difficult to control a large amount of information resources on the Internet, creating opportunities for many lawless elements and weakening the morality of college students[4].

The problems caused by these diversified values have also brought a lot of troubles to the ideological and political education in China's colleges and universities.
