Abstract: This paper cuts the current situation of ideological and political education in colleges and universities in China, analyzes the current ideological work status of college students in China, analyzes the significance and path of promoting the innovation of ideological and political work, and puts forward relevant suggestions.

1. Introduction

Under the new era and new situation, General Secretary Xi's series of new theories and new theories on ideological and political education provide a guide to action and fundamental follow-up for the development of ideological and political education in colleges and universities, and also provide training for young talents. The cornerstone of theory. Xi Jinping emphasized that colleges and universities should adhere to the guiding principle of Xi Jinping's new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics, implement the fundamental tasks of Lide Shuren, innovate and develop Xi Jinping's ideological and political education thoughts, and explore a new path of ideological and political education in colleges and universities. When attending the National Conference on Propaganda and Ideological Work in 2018, he emphasized that it is necessary to take the new people in the era who are responsible for the task of national rejuvenation as the fundamental task of propaganda and ideological work. All of these require colleges and universities to play the leading role of socialist core values, and carry them through to the ideological and political work of colleges and universities, and actively promote the education and dissemination of socialist core values.

2. Analysis of the Status Quo of College Students' Ideological and Political Education in China

This paper studies the ideological and political work of college students in China in the form of questionnaires, and presents the current ideological and political status of college students. The questionnaire includes five questions, namely, outlook on life and life, value and value choice, political and political behavior, morality and moral behavior, cultural outlook and cultural literacy. Mainly through the analysis of college students' values and moral values, we can understand the overall situation of college students in China. A total of 3,500 questionnaires were distributed from major universities in Guangdong, and 3 330 valid questionnaires were collected. The effective recovery rate was 95.0%. After the questionnaire data was entered into the database through EpiData software, SPSS22.0 and SAS9.4 software were used for statistical analysis.

The survey shows that the current ideological and political situation of college students is generally positive and healthy, and the recognition of socialist core values is relatively high. At the same time, the survey also found that the college students group has a certain fuzzy understanding of the relevant ideological and theoretical issues.

1) Outlook on life and pursuit of life. Most college students can correctly view the relationship between demand and dedication, personal value and social value. 72.4% of college students agree that "dedication is the greatest happiness in life", 59.6% of college students expressly oppose "first request, then dedication", and 48.1% of college students believe that "the value of life can only be better realized in the collective".

2) Values and value choices. The necessity and importance of the construction of socialist core values have been highly recognized by college students. 81.6% of college students believe that it is necessary for the country to propose core values. 89.7% of college students memorize the basic content of socialist core values, 92.1% of college students think they basically understand the connotation of socialist core values, and 96.0% of college students express their strong recognition of society. Core values.

3) Political views and political behavior. Most college students have a firm political stance, a correct political attitude and a positive political attitude. 80.3% of college students agree that "the country is rising and falling, and the husband is responsible"; 88.3% of college students agree that "the realization of national rejuvenation must adhere to the socialist road with Chinese characteristics"; 88.8% of college students believe that "the socialist system with Chinese characteristics has a unique advantage."

4) Morality and moral behavior. 79.0% of college students in colleges and universities have carried out the practice of learning Lei Feng's moral construction, 77.1% of college students participated in the above activities, and 82.3% of college students believe that these activities have positive significance for improving individual's ideological and moral quality.

5) Cultural outlook and cultural literacy. 95.8% of college students are proud of Chinese culture, and 91.1% of college students believe that "the Chinese nation will certainly create new glory in culture", and 89.6% of university students believe that "Chinese outstanding traditional culture has an eternal charm that transcends time and space." 86.2% of college students believe that it is necessary for the school to carry out the teaching and practice activities of inheriting the Chinese traditional culture. 93.2% of the students show interest in Chinese traditional culture, and 74.7% of the students are satisfied with the campus cultural activities.

3. College students' ideological and political status and characteristics

1) The ideological and political conditions of different college students are significantly different. The college student group shows significant differences in many aspects of the ideological and political situation. The degree of understanding of socialist core values differs among groups of college students with different learning stages and subject categories. Among undergraduates, the degree of understanding of socialist core values from high to low is followed by humanities, social sciences, and science and engineering. Among the master students, the degree of understanding of the socialist core values from high to low is social science students, humanities students and science and engineering students. By the time of the doctoral study, there is no significant statistical difference in the understanding of the socialist core values among the three types of students.

2) College students' ideological and political concepts are susceptible to social reality. In terms of outlook on life, college students believe that ideals are nothing more than a luxury in the real environment of high housing prices and difficult employment. In terms of ethics, there are many incidents in colleges and universities that are worried about helping the fallen elderly. College students who are in an increasingly diverse and complex ideological and cultural environment are objectively influenced by some Western values and social trends. The social thoughts and the network public opinion environment have partially diluted the political identity of college students.

3) The education of socialist core values has positive significance for the development of ideological and political quality of college students. Different disciplines have a significant impact on the recognition of college students' core values. The humanities students have the highest recognition of core values. There is a significant difference in the recognition of socialist core values among college students at different stages of learning. Specifically, the effect of ideological and political theory courses and the daily ideological and political education effects are higher, and the higher the degree of recognition of university students on core values.

4) All kinds of ideological concepts of college students are an organic whole. The outlook on life, values, politics, morality and culture are the organic components of the ideological system of college students. They are interrelated and mutually influential, and together constitute the ideological and conceptual structure of college students. College students' outlook on life, values and college students' moral values have different positive relationships. It can be judged that the concept of life directly contributes to the direct promotion of morality, and the direct promotion of values on cultural and political views is greater.

4. The significance of socialist core values to the work of ideological and political education in colleges and universities.

The ideological and political education of any era naturally has an inherent value theory commitment, and the value theory may be hidden in an indirect way under some educational purpose that it directly expresses. That is to say, in the directness of theoretical expression, ideological and political education may only be expressed as a specific purpose, rather than directly expressed as a certain value appeal. This kind of purpose expresses the concrete meaning with specific value appeals, and this kind of value appeal can be attributed to human life appeal. Therefore, the intrinsic value appeal of ideological and political education must proceed from the "people-oriented" dimension, and can not only stay at the direct appeal and appearance level of ideological and political education.

China's definition of ideological and political education is that ideological and political education refers to the use of certain ideological concepts, political views, and moral norms by the society or the group, and exerts a purposeful, planned, and organized influence on its members, so that they form a society in line with certain society. Or the social practice activities of the ideology and morality required by a certain class. This expresses the requirement of a certain society for individual ideology and morality. The value theory contained in it is that ideology and morality meet the requirements of certain society in order to realize individual value in social life.

The introduction of the socialist core values clearly shows the intrinsic value appeals implicit in ideological and political education, and directly tells the educators what the fundamental purpose of ideological and political education is. The value of socialism is people-oriented, and its core value is people, not things. The formulation of the socialist core values clarifies the ideological characteristics and spiritual heights of China's ideological and political education as a socialist country, and indicates the understanding and value orientation of socialist culture on the meaning of life, thus giving the Chinese people a clear life value coordinate. And life guide. Therefore, the meaning of life and cultural meaning contained in the core values of society transcend its social and political significance.

5. The Path of Integrating Socialist Core Values into College Students' Ideological and Political Work

1) Respect the differences in student personality and improve the pertinence and effectiveness of ideological and political education. The educational effects of various educational factors on the core values of different college students are not the same. The improvement of the level of teachers in the ideological and political theory course will help improve the understanding of college students on core values. To improve the overall ideological and political quality of college students, college ideological and political education should follow the law of the growth and development of college students, adjust the curriculum of ideological and political theory courses, optimize the teaching staff, enhance the subjectivity of college students in the process of ideological and political education, and enhance the ideological and political theory. The specificity and effectiveness of the lesson.

2) Promote scientific innovation in ideological and political education in colleges and universities. College ideological and political theory courses are the main channel and main battlefield for the dissemination of socialist core values. It is necessary to adhere to the socialist core values as a guide, and to improve the overall thinking level of students by scientifically setting teaching content and enriching teaching methods. It is necessary to attract teachers of different specialties to participate in ideological and political teaching, and to naturally carry out the core values throughout the whole process of ideological and political education. It is necessary to introduce advanced scientific research results into ideological and political education and guide teachers to actively participate in scientific research. It is necessary to improve the evaluation method of the teaching content of ideological and political education in colleges and universities, and give different teaching and guidance to different types of students.

3) Further optimize the team of ideological and political education teachers in colleges and universities. The teacher team is the main body of ideological and political education in colleges and universities. To cultivate the core values of socialism, we must first strengthen the ideological and political work of the teaching staff. It is necessary to use the spiritual wealth contained in the excellent traditional Chinese culture to unswervingly spread Xi Jinping's new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics and effectively transform the party's scientific theory into a powerful force for promoting ideological and political education in colleges and universities. College ideological educators should strengthen their sense of responsibility and mission to carry forward their core values, be a firm believer and active practitioner of socialist core values, and consciously integrate core values into their daily work, using their noble personality and exemplary behavior. Lide Tree people promote the core values to take root.

4) Strengthen the positive guidance of socialist core values. Leading the trend of college students, in the final analysis, is still the cultivation of socialist core values. If we can guide college students to actively and effectively cultivate and practice the core values of socialism, we will overcome the problem of college students' thoughts. The 24-word socialist core value system has extremely important theoretical and practical significance for further revealing the spiritual core of the socialist core value system. It is necessary to use the socialist core value system to lead the trend of college students.

6. Conclusion

Cultivating and practicing the core values of socialism has practical guiding significance and practical value for carrying out ideological and political education in colleges and universities. Ideological and political education should not only directly focus on the core values of socialism, but also guide the entire ideological and political education activities and processes with the core values of socialism. Carry out the basic principles of socialist core values in all aspects of ideological and political education, and internalize the core values of socialism into the whole process of ideological and political education, so that the whole process of ideological and political education becomes the process of implementation and dissemination of the core values of socialism.
